Section 106 Process & Public Involvement

The Section 106 process requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of their actions on historic properties.

SECTION 106 PROCESS

Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act lays out the process for considering effects on historic properties:

- Initiate the process.
- Identify historic properties and define the area of potential effect.
- Assess adverse effects.
- Resolve potential adverse effects.

Historic properties include archaeological sites, historic structures, districts, objects, and traditional cultural properties that are listed or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places.
